NIRMALA CONVENT SCHOOL MESSAGES ON BEHALF OF THE STUDENTS

When we talk about cleanliness, we might think it is just about keeping ourselves and our houses clean, but no, it is about carrying this habit everywhere, on the streets, and to the places, we visit. For example, if we are chewing gum on the road and cannot find a dustbin to throw it away, we must make sure not to throw it on the streets and carry it back home.

As we say charity begins from home so does cleanliness. We should start taking care of our personal hygiene. We must keep in mind that life is beautiful, and by practicing cleanliness, we pay respect to the life we have and make the earth a perfect place to live in. Then we are just a few steps from a clean and green India.

Staying clean and healthy would not only keep you safe from any diseases but also will help you to keep your mind fresh. With the habit of cleanliness, one's level of concentration increases, which will help us stand out of the rest, and later, this habit of cleanliness will take us ahead in life and help us become a successful and happy human being.

Cleanliness is a boon, and if we practice cleanliness, greater things are coming our way. Cleanliness is not just about keeping oneself and his home clean; it is also about keeping our environment clean. By keeping our environment clean, we can avoid the spread of germs because germs make us sick.

A society with a penchant for cleanliness contributes to the health of the environment in an effective way. Garbage pollution is the main reason for environmental degradation. A society where people are careless about the collection and disposal of garbage, and don't have a desire to keep their society clean, only contributes towards environmental degradation. On the other hand, a society with responsible and clean individuals is less polluting and good for overall environmental health.

One must know and make other people know that cleanliness is not someone else's responsibility, rather it is our responsibility to be clean and also make the environment clean. One should start from one's own home and school, colleges, institutions, societies, and various organizations. It is not a one-day activity; rather must be done daily to keep everything clean.

As humans, we have a duty to God, ourselves, and others to keep clean for our best health. To push back disease and abuse. Yes, abuse can present from not keeping your house clean, laziness! We can prevent many disasters from entering our life if we pay attention and always do what is right and true.

While keeping yourself clean, you need to keep your surroundings clean too. To keep your surroundings clean, you need to make sure that you clean your house daily so that it is dust-free and disease-free. If you don't keep your home clean, it will become a place for the diseases to come and settle. It would be best if you extended the lesson of cleanliness towards public places too.

Cleanliness is both the abstract state of being clean and free from dirt, and the process of achieving and maintaining that state. Cleanliness may be endowed with a moral quality, as indicated by the aphorism "cleanliness is next to godliness, and maybe regarded as contributing to other ideas such as health and beauty." In emphasizing an ongoing set of habits or procedure for the purpose of maintenance and prevention, the concept of cleanliness differs from purity which is a physical, moral or ritual state of freedom from pollutants.

Cleanliness and personal hygiene are not matters of intuition and impulse, they are great things that one has to achieve to live a disciplined life and to stay away from any possible diseases. Cleanliness describes one's personality and precision in everyday life.

One of the things that you need to remember is that you need to keep the country clean as well. Many people think that keeping your house clean is enough. However, you need to realize that you need to keep your country clean too. Instead of thinking that it's someone else's responsibility, you need to take on yourself to make that you don't contribute negatively to the country's environment.
